How Biographies are Organized at Peninsula

A biography is the true story of a person's life written by another person. The spine label reads: B (for biography) + the last name of whom the biography is about. Example: Annie Oakley, by Shannon Garth =

B Oakley

A group biography is a collection of biographies on multiple people gathered in one book. It is classified 920 in the Dewey section. The letters under the class number represent the author's last name, NOT who the book is about. Example: Heroines of the American Revolution, by Burke Davis =

920 DAV

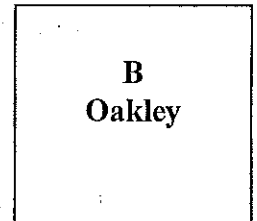

An autobiography is a biography written by oneself—a story about me, written by me! The spine label reads: B (for biography) + the last name of whom the biography is about. Example: Muhammad Ali: My Story =

B Ali

We refer to all three categories in general as biographies.

Write the spine labels for the following biographies:

1. _____ Annie Oakley, by Shannon Garth
2. _____ Heroines of the American Revolution, by Burke Davis
3. _____ Albert Einstein, by Milton Meltzer
4. _____ Muhammad Ali: My Story
5. _____ 20th Century Explorers, by Bernadette Baker
6. _____ Geronimo, by Shane Reynolds
7. _____ Memoirs of General George S. Patton
8. _____ Marvel Comic Characters: A Group History, by Ben Arachne
9. _____ Shaun Alexander, My Life With the Seahawks
10. _____ Five Artists of the Old West, Clyde Bruckman
11. _____ Anne Frank: The Story of My Life in Hiding
12. _____ Mia Hamm, by Shayla Short
13. _____ The Story of Smokey Bear, by Ranger Dan Edwards
14. _____ The Beatles, by George Starr
15. _____ Linus Pauling, by Linus Pauling

This is what the spine label looks like on the book.
